Electronic devices are taking over, but how much time is too much time? Too much screen time has been linked to obesity, behavior and social problems, low grades, and reduced physical activity. The constant use of screens can also cause anxiety and sleep loss. Students should spend no more than 2 hours looking at some sort of screen. Instead of picking up the phone or tablet for an endless amount of time, try to unplug and play something else instead. Read a book, go for a walk, get creative with ways to promote less screen time within your family. Less is more!

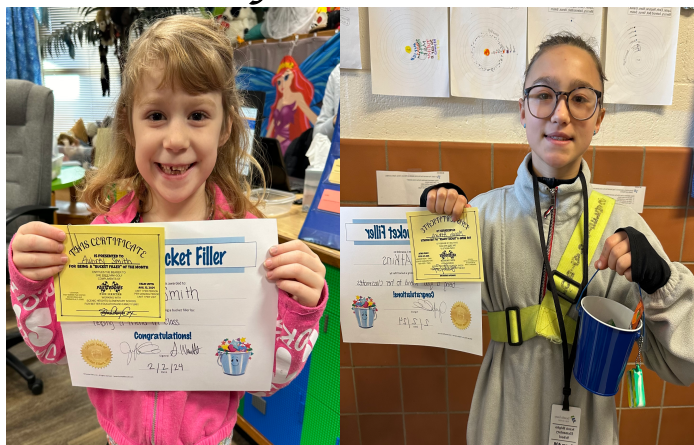

GUIDANCE CORNER
