Coach's Corner

It's time to notice your wins! When you play your favorite video game, there's always a celebration when you make a big accomplishment—music, flashy lights, and a “great job!” message. When you sink a three pointer in a game of basketball, score a goal in soccer, or land the perfect somersault in gymnastics, there's the cheer of the crowd behind you. But when you get through the day without stressing out, you've just made a snack for a sibling, or finished that difficult math problem, you need to celebrate the accomplishment. This is why it's important to pause daily and take time to notice your own wins! Take some time today and write down three things you accomplished, big or small. You can use a journal to keep track of all of your accomplishments and remind yourself to keep a positive outlook.
